

Process:

1. Choose an interesting subject matter to use as your subject. Remember to think about how it is portraying personal voice!

•You may find it easier to use more cylindrical forms such as bottles, fingers or legs for this exercise. Faces tend to look awkward in cross-contour but there are no limitations on subject matter.

2. Lightly sketch the outlines of the simple shapes in the original piece on in pencil to create guidelines.

3. Draw in pencil cross-contour lines that “wrap” around the objects to define the forms in the composition to emphasize the volume. Carefully consider the direction of the cross-contour lines.

4. Go over the pencil lines in black sharpie using a variety of thicknesses of lines and good craftsmanship.

•ONLY VARSITY AP STUDENTS MAY USE COLOR!!! If this is your first year in AP Art, using black ink is hard enough...

5. Be sure to erase all pencil guidelines after you finish your drawing and your ink is completely DRY.
